Dear [REDACTED]

The Department of Child Support Services (DCSS) has finished an audit of your support account(s). In doing this audit, the DCSS applied all the support payments made by SLADE DANIEL SMILEY or by the employer on his or her behalf to the support payments that are owed to you. For any month that the support payments were late or not paid, interest was added to the account(s).

The California Code of Civil Procedure (CCP), Section 685.010, states if court ordered payments are not paid, then 10 percent interest is added to the total unpaid amount. Also, CCP, Section 658.020, states that if the court ordered payments are to be made in installments, then 10 percent interest is added to the missed installment payment amount on the day it becomes late.

Generally, support payments are first applied to the support that is owed for the month that the support payment was received by DCSS. If any money is left over, it is used to pay any past due support owed. Payments received prior to January 1, 2009, were used to pay accrued interest first, then the principal balance. Per Assembly Bill 2669, payments received as of January 1, 2009 will be used to pay the principal balance first, then accrued interest (CCP Section 695.221).

As of 10/08/2009 our records show that you are owed $71339.61 in late support payments, and you are owed $6017.14 in interest which equals a total of $77356.75 that is owed to you.
